

	Meta Ethics	Determinism	Conscience	Sexual Ethics	Virtue Ethics	Business	Environment
June 2015	Evaluate the claim that moral judgements are based on an unquestionable intuitive knowledge of what is good.				'The problem with Virtue Ethics is that it never gives answers to moral problems.' Discuss.	'Kantian ethics are the most useful approach to business ethics.' Discuss.	'Natural Law is the most coherent approach to environmental ethics.' Discuss.
June 2014		'Our moral choices are completely determined by our upbringing and social conditioning.' Discuss.	To what extent is conscience vital when making moral decisions?	Critically assess the view that Utilitarianism is of no use when making decisions about sexual ethics.		Critically assess the view that businesses have a religious moral duty to put their employees first.
June 2013	Critically assess the view that the word 'good' has no real meaning.	'Without freedom it is impossible to make moral choices.' Discuss.			'Businesses are completely incompatible with Virtue Ethics.' Discuss.		To what extent are religious teachings on the environment and the Gaia hypothesis compatible?
Jan 2013			Critically assess the claim that the conscience is a reliable guide to ethical decision making.	'Religious approaches to sexual ethics are more helpful than secular approaches.' Discuss.	'Following the example of virtuous people is the most useful aspect of Virtue Ethics.' Discuss.	Critically assess the view that businesses have a moral duty to put their consumers first.
June 2012	To what extent do moral statements have objective meaning?		How convincing are Butler's claims that people have an innate sense of right and wrong?			To what extent are ethical theories helpful when considering ethical business practice?	'There is no moral imperative to care for the environment.' Discuss.
Jan 2012	'All ethical language is prescriptive.' Discuss.	Critically assess the claim that free will and determinism are compatible.	'For moral issues surrounding sex the demands of conscience override other ethical considerations.' Discuss.		To what extent do modern versions of Virtue Ethics address the weaknesses of Aristotle's teaching on virtue?
June 2011	'Ethical statements are no more than expressions of emotion.' Discuss.	Critically assess the view that we are not responsible for our evil actions		To what extent is Virtue Ethics helpful when making decisions about extramarital sex?			Assess the claim that secular approaches to environmental issues are of more help than religious approaches.
Jan 2011		'Our ethical decisions are merely the result of social conditioning.' Discuss.	Critically assess the claim that conscience is the voice of reason.	'Natural Law is the most reliable approach when making decisions about pre-marital sex.' Discuss.		'The environment suffers because business has no ethics.' Discuss.
June 2010		Critically assess the claim that people are free to make moral decisions.		To what extent are ethical theories helpful when considering the issues surrounding homosexuality?	'The weaknesses of Virtue Ethics outweigh its strengths.' Discuss.	Assess the usefulness of Religious Ethics as an ethical approach to business.
Jan 2010	To what extent is ethical language meaningful?		Assess the view that conscience need not always be followed.	'Some ethical theories are of more help than others when making decisions about sexual issues.' Discuss.			'Utilitarianism is not the best approach to environmental issues.' Discuss.
Spec		'God knows the ethical decisions we will make.' Discuss.	Evaluate the claim that conscience is the voice of God.	Critically assess the view that Natural Law is of no use when discussing sexual ethics.			To what extent is it true to claim that people have an individual sense of moral responsibility for the environment?